

Well done to all our Home Economics students who are practicing their practical cookery, sewing and resource management skills remotely.

A special congratulations to the TY students who participated in our 'What's in the Fridge?' challenge. They were asked to plan and make a breakfast, lunch or dinner using the resources they had available to them. They also researched food waste in Ireland to find out how they could plan use up leftovers to make their dishes. They displayed excellent creativity and innovative ways to combat food waste and make the most of resources they already had.

Reminder to all students that you can enter pictures of your baking/cooking/sewing in the ATHE Déanta le Grá competition.

The ATHE are running a competition for the month of February. Students can cook, bake or create a textiles item with someone they love in mind. Use the #HomeEconomics and #ATHEDéantaLeGrá to take part.

The Association of Teachers of Home Economics presents:

DÉANTA LE GRÁ COMPETITION

Open to secondary school students across Ireland. Create a textiles item or bake and decorate something with someone you love in mind. This competition runs for the month of February. Tag @ATHE_HomeEc in your tweets and use the #ATHEDéantaLeGrá and #HomeEconomics to enter.

The winning entry will receive a €50 One4All Voucher
